Course Description:

In this course we will explore a range of issues, debates and understandings of human sexuality from a primarily social psychological perspective. Using both the text book and a number of feature length films we will examine popular representations of human sexuality and our own values while expanding our knowledge of the various physical, emotional and social aspects of human sexuality. This class will include both theoretical and empirical explorations of topics encompassed by the theme of human sexuality. Discussion and debate will be central to this course so students will have a chance to reflect on their own values, attitudes and experiences in relation to class materials from various sources, lecture content and other students.

NOTE: All films contain adult content including explicit sexuality and language.

In six of the classes we will view a feature length film followed by approximately 60-90 minutes of lecture and discussion time. If there is insufficient time for a break before the film students will need to decide for themselves when to take this break during the screening. All other classes will consist of lecture, discussion and debate.

Critical Paper, 2 x 20%, Due in class on Tuesdays, October 16 and November 27

Must not exceed 3 pages double spaced per paper (12 pt Times New Roman font)

The goal of this assignment is for you to critically engage with a human sexuality-related topic that interests you. Choose one of the three films we screened in classes 2-5 for the first paper and one of the three films from classes 7-11. Use class materials and at least 1 peer-reviewed academic resource (excluding the assigned textbook) to critically explore and expand upon an issue, theme or debate that came up in the film.

In this formal essay please include:

Introduction (4 marks)

- Introduce the issue, theme or debate (why is it important?)
- Clarify why you choose this topic
- Provide a clear thesis statement (what is the purpose of your essay?)
- Discuss the 'common sense' assumptions that people make about your topic

Critical engagement with the film using class materials and academic sources (10 marks)

- Include at least 1 peer-reviewed academic journal article published since 2005 (or book chapters-only if passed by me).
- Use your chosen sources to explore the values, beliefs and common assumptions often made about human sexuality and how the people in the film struggled with and experienced various aspects of their sexuality.
- Discuss the relevant theoretical background to the topic
- Provide an integrated discussion of your academic sources to reflect on the film's contents.

This is the most important part of the essay. This is a critical discussion of the film not a film review!!

Conclusions (3 marks)

- Include a paragraph reflecting on how the research you conducted affected your view of this topic in light of the materials we have covered in class. How did it make you think about human sexuality differently?

Style (3 marks)

- Reference in any style you are comfortable with but you must be CONSISTENT and thorough in its usage and include year and page for all references within the text.
- Writing skills (spelling, grammar, readability, etc.)
- Presented in a professional manner

Be sure to proofread your paper before handing it in!

Take notes to keep track of the information you gather so as not to plagiarize.

Class Participation, 4% and Online Course Evaluation, 1%

This 4% is included not to penalize people who are uncomfortable speaking out in class but to encourage a space where everyone's input can be respectfully heard and actively encouraged. You will have multiple opportunities and ways to contribute to class discussion. Paramount in this classroom is the respect and dignity of all people involved. You will also be given 1% towards your grade upon completing your online evaluation of the class and emailing Brandy to inform her.
